

A Farmer All His Life

EVERT

by his daughter
Linda M. Mainquist
1952-

St. Paul, Minnesota

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION

HILLCREST FARM

THE PATRIARCH

THE ROSEBUSH

MY FATHER'S 84 YEARS

A DAIRY FARM GLOSSARY

THE LIFE OF A SAINT

DADS AND DAUGHTERS, CATS AND DOGS

THE BARN FIRE

THE MULES

THE END

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to gratefully thank the following people without whom this book would have been possible:

- D. Perry Kidder and the Creative Prose Writing Group at the Loft. These women expertly and tactfully edited my writing twice a month for over three years.
- Dianne Swanson and Suzette Bernard. My two friends creatively designed this book within the confines of the capabilities of my word processor.
- Reverend Grant Abbott and Terry Lanigan. They initially encouraged me to write this book.
- George Bly Wilcox. He wrote me regularly and listened wisely after my father died. I am convinced he was sent by God.
- Dale Stensgaard. He encouraged my writing and edited it carefully.
- My mother, Helen Mainquist. She encouraged my writing first by buying me Weekly Reader books and then teaching second grade to pay for my education. May this memoir honor her and my father.

I was graduated from the finest school, which is that of the love between parent and child. Though the world is constructed to serve glory, success, and strength, one loves one's parents and one's children despite their failings and weaknesses--sometimes even more on account of them.

In this school you learn the measure not of power, but of love; not of victory, but of grace; not of triumph, but of forgiveness. You learn as well, and sometimes, as I did, you learn early, that love can overcome death, and that what is required of you in this is memory and devotion. Memory and devotion.

MEMOIR FROM ANTPROOF CASE
Mark Helprin